The Treaty Correspondence.

The Courier & Enquirer publishes the follow is a summary of the correspondence between Mr. WEBSTER and Lord ASHBURTON upon the sibjects embraced in the Treaty stipulations. It professes to be written out from memory, and ties and dangers of the scholar at the present might therefore easily give a fulse coloring to parts d the correspondence.

The first letter of Lord Ashburton is upon the sbject of the N. E. Boundary. He professes a depinterest for the welfare of this country, and an arnest desire to preserve peace between the two rations. In proof of which, he refers to the fact that he had sought strenuously to prevent the last tar between England and the U. States, and that tions of those in times past." The Post says: e has since anxiously watched whatever passing louds have arisen, to threaten an interruption o he harmony between the two nations. He addees also the circumstances of his undertaking the mission at his advanced age, as evidence of these friendly sentiments; when his taste and indinations would have suggested peaceful retire-

Mr. Webster replied, acknowledging the friendfeelings of his Lordship, stating that the Presient was aware of all his efforts in favor of peace, sadinvited his Lordship to begin to talk-to which his hordship replies, waiving all advantages which might be derived from declining to make the first more, and, openly and frankly stating his case, drives st once, in medias res. He endeavors to avoid he discussion of the question of right, saying, that here can be no hope that either party will be coninced that the right of the question is not with

Mr. WEBSTER replies, but goes fully into the muer which his Lordship had desired to avoid; is arguments used by Mr. WZESTER are, howev a familiar to all who have paid any attention to th subjects

This matter of the Boundary is fully discussed. Seeral long and able documents from the Maine and Massachusetts Commissioners follow, the subrance of which we cannot undertake to state. Lord AMBURTON evinces an intimate knowledge of the subject, and handles it ably. The result is, a propesition by Mr. WEBSTER, which is nearly that finalragreed to.

Then comes the subject of the African Slave frade, which is disposed of without difficulty, in he manner the tredty shows. There is some corspondence with Commander PAINE, and other aral officers, &c. not now of such interest that we are burdened our memory with it.

The Creole case is presented in strong terms by Ir. Webster in a letter, (which, when published, vill bring all the anti-slavery people about his ared to which Lord Ashburton replies, that, as se sews of the matter of the Creole Had reached lagand but shortly before his departure, and as it lad not, previous to that time, been presented to ne notice of the British Government, by Mr. Everett, he was not empowered to treat upon that

He states, however, that the laws of Great Brimintecognite as free, every slave who sets his foot British soil, as much as do the laws of Masadmsetts recognize as free every foreign slave when he lands in Boston; and that they cannot be dered. But he promises that directions shall be given to the Governors and other officers of the British W. I. Islands to do nothing in this respect when it can be properly avoided, that may tend to the disturbance of " good neighborhood" between them and the United States.

The matter of the right of search and impressment, is also proposed by Mr. Webster. To this also his Lordship replies, that he has not authority to make any stipulation upon that subject. That the peculiar necessities of England in regard to this fatter, growing out of her maritime situationthe immense emigration of her people to this county-and the fact that every native of Great Britain ways and perpetually owes to her, the duty of erring her in war,-together with the similarity sappearance and identity of language of the people of the two countries, creates a necessity, which bithids entering into any treaty upon the subject -at least at precent:

The case of the Caroline is then presented by Mr. Webster, and the whole matter with its awful details, are stated in the well and forcibly written letter of Mr. Webster to Mr. Fox, in the pring of 1841, which is 'copied and referred to,

To this Lord Ashburton replies with much ingemity stating, that, inasmuch as the authorities on this side made no attempt to restrain, or did not estrain or molest the people on Navy Island who were firing upon the inhabitants on the Canada shore, and as the Caroline was in the employ of hose people, the British authorities were compelled by the necessity of self-defence to invade our territory for the purpose of destroying her .-That had the case been reversed, we would not law hesitated to pursue the same course. He rejots that the matter was not urged, and redress wught at an earlier period, and soon after the event tok place. He declares the high sense on the Brt of Great Britain, of our claim to a sacred inplability of territory; but urges at the same time le existence, in this case, of the "immediate and rgent necessity, admitting of no delay'poken of by Mr. Webster as alone justifying an wasion of our Territory-that there was no ther mode left of destroying the vessel-that the apedition left the Canada shore for the purpose of estroying her at Navy Island-that not finding her here, there was no time for deliberation or delay,

He doubts whether any person or persons were ent in the boat over the Cataract—that she was owed into the stream to prevent injury to the mildings and inhabitants of Schlosser-that it w not known that any person was killed by the exedition, but repeats again a respectful acknowlalgement by the British Government, of the saredness of our neutral rights, and expresses deep reret that any necessity should have made necessary be invasion of our territory. He then complains of the treatment of the soldiers engaged in that expedition whenever caught on this side, protesting against the doctrine that soldiers are accountable to any but their own Government, for the consepuences of obeying the orders of the officers of their

Mr. Webster's reply, recognizes the correctness of the ground assumed by Lord Ashburton in regard to the accountability of men so acting under orders; states, however, that such is the nature of our laws, such the delay in the trial of causes, and such the apparent conflict of jurisdiction between the courts of the States and of the United States, that some difficulty in cases of such arrests, can-net be avoided. Mr. Webster then, " as directed by the President," gives the British Government a full discharge from all further blame on account of the Caroline, "inasmuch" as they have apologized, and "inasmuch" as no better reparation from the nature of the case can be had, and inasmuch as they have expressed so much respect and regard for the inviolable and sacred character of our neutral rights, &c.

A GANG OF COINERS have been detected in Steuben County. About four weeks ago (as we are informed,) a man named Hoyt was arrested in the town of Wayne or Tyrone for stealing a yoke of oxen. In order to escape punishment, he gave the officers information of the whereabouts of extensive bogus manufacturers in Steuben County. Eight or nine have already been arrested, among them are Mr. Burge and his three sons, living on the Bath road leading from Wayne Hotel. Dies and implements for carrying on the coining business upon quite an extensive scale were found in B.'s barn. 'According to Hoyt's statement they had made in three days false coin to the amount of $900. Henry Thompson, of Tyrone, and a lawyer named Lefferts, of Havana, are also among the arrested, and they have all been committed for trial, together with two or three others. The coin they issued were Spanish milled and American [Penn-Yan Dem. half dollars.

AN EVIDENCE OF PUBLIC OPINION .- Yesterday the City Council passed an ardinance laying off a number of new streets in the northern part of the city. One of the streets was called Tyler. Mr. McGunnegle moved to strike out 'Tyler' whereever it occurred in the bill, and insert HARRISON. The motion was carried unanimously. Poor Tyler! there is none, save Fogg, so mean as to do him reverence. Nearly every distinguished man in the nation has a street in the city named after him, except Mr. Tyler, if he may be called dis-ISt. Louis Rep. tinguished.

TRADES UNION TURN-OUT .- There has to-day been quite a turn-out of the weavers and laborers, who are professedly dissatisfied with the prices that they receive for their work, but probably really more discontented at having too little to do. They were about two hundred and fifty in number, displayed flags and banners, and were accompnnied with music. Rumor says, though I do not vouch for the truth of the matter, that some violence has been offered to such of the weavers as have thought proper to mind their business in reference to joining these strollers through the strects. It is said that their looms were broken and other obstructions interposed to the progress of their labors. These are no times to quarrel about prices. The greater matter is to obtain employment. These turbulent exhibitions augur no good to the peace of the community, and should put the authorities on their guard.

STAGE ACCIDENT .- We learn from the Romney, Va. Intelligencer that as the mail-coach, with eleven passengers, was descending Sandy Ridge, on its way to Winchester, on the 13th inst., one of the fore wheels came off, and the coach becoming disengaged, was thrown over the precipice, with the passengers in it, making several complete turns in its downward course. A Mr. Janney, of Loudon County, who was riding on the top of the vehicle, was so much injured that his life is despaired of. None of the passengers in the inside of the coach were injured in the least.

In August last, by the advice of friends. I went to the New-York City Haspital, but was there told that my case was incurable. The disease now enveloped my whole body, rendering me almost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked, and blood and matter ran, and life itself be-came almost a burden. Diseases of the osseous and glandular system, also of the joints and ligaments, are safely and certainly cured by its use, as the peculiarity of its operation consists in removing the germ or cause of disease, and the health of the patient isspeedily re-

Sarsaparilla has enjoyed a high reputation in the treatment and cure of diseases for many years, but the value of no other article in the Materia Medica, that at one time held, so high a rank, has at others been placed so low: the cause of which is chiefly owing to the great variation in the maner's relief. And to the American public the proprietors would say, let that medicine which is destined to bring ner of its preparation, and want of care in selecting the proper article. A distinguished medical writer who resided many years in the section of country which produces the best quality of Sarsaparilla truly observes, "of six at eight species of the root which I found growing in the woods, I never found but one to manifest to the taste any of the sensible properties of the genuine medical Sarsaparilla, the rest being insipid and nearly inert." As the medical profession do not act as their own Pharmaceutists, but rely on the skill of the Apothecary for preparing and compounding different formulæ, it is a matter of the utmost importance that there should be a correct standard preparation of Sarsaparilla, on which the 'Faculty' and public generally can rely with implicit confidence; such is the article now offered. It combines the Utile cum Dulce, and in many instances has given speedy relief and made a perfecture when the patient was his has been proved again and again-is it not sufficient to nary as almost to surpass belief, has, in order to place its bines the Utile cam Dulce, and in many instances has given speedy relief and made a perfect cure when the patient was apparently tast verging to the grave. The proprietors have devoted many years in experimenting and testing various modes of preparation to enable them to concentrate in the in the most efficient form all the medicinal value of the root, and this most desirable result has been at last triumphantly accomplished by means of an entirely new, ingenious and costly apparatus. The Sarsaparilla is combined with other articles selected wholly from the vegetable kingdom, all of which are the most powerful purifiers of the blood; and these are concentrated into a fluid extract of great power The patient therefore who uses this preparation has all combined that can be useful for the removal of his complaint.

The numerous objections to different forms in which Sarsaparilla has been heretofore prescribed, are well founded: the quantity of sugar contained in the syrup, will in most instances nauseate and surfeit the stomach, if a sufficient dose be taken to be of any benefit—the decaction and infusion being so liable to spoil, combined with the difficulty of Gentlemen,—A tale of misery and woe is mine to tell, and as memory ever constant in the task brings back scenes that have past, I shudder at the picture and almost wonder if it distress, racked by the most exeruciating pain, dumb with agony—the only voice that came from my lips the voice of greaning, and my only hope despair. My complaint at first seemed light and hardly worth while to call a physician; but I soon began to grow worse, and a physician was called, who prescribed some pills containing a powerful preparation of mercury, to be followed by sarsaparilla root and lignum vitas made into a tea, which I continued using for several months without intermission. Soon after taking the mercury I began to feel its poisonous influence. My whole glandular system became affected, also the bones, joints and muscles; lumps formed upon the skin teach.

discoveries ever made in the art of Cutting. JABEZ DAVIS has discovered the true principle in the Balancing and Drafting of Coats—which principle I have no doubt has been more studied than any other science, for all other sciences have been confined to but few compared with the thousands of the trade that have turned their attention to discover this point, both here and in Europe for this fifty years. It is an entirely original and self-varying system, nothing complicated, no matter in what position the person stands. When you draft the Coat, it works out every point perfectly correct. This system has been thou ugbly atteststands. When you draft the Goat, it works out every point perfectly correct. This system has been thore ughly altested by a number of the trade for eighteen months in New-York. Any of the trade wishing to obtain a good rule for Drafting Goats, with an original improvement on Vests, and other useful instructions in the general art of Cutting, are solicited to call at 186 Fulton st. OFFICE OF JEFFERSON INS. COMPANY, } New-York, Aug. 1, 1342. this Institution have this day declared a Semi-Annual Dividend of seven per cent., payable to the Stackholders or their legal representatives on and after the 10th inst. Teansfer books closed from 6th to 9th inst. Iclusive.

GEO. T. HOPE, Secretary.

THE PROOF IRON SAFES.—There can be no greater evidence of the high estimation by the public of Wilder's Patent Salamander Safe than the fact, that since the invention of these Safes and their subsequent rials and tests, almost every thing made for the purpose of holding books and papers are called by the makers and venders by the name of Salamander Safes.

The following gentlemen composed a Committee of Merrenders by the name of Salamander Sales.

The following gentlemen composed a Committee of Merciants at the trial of sales in a blast furnace near the foot of wall-street, and decided in favor of Wilder's Patent Sale, which was the only one that stood the test, viz:

Messrs, WADSWORTH & SMITH,

" BALDWIN & CO.,
" MINTURN & CO.,
CHAS. H. MARSHALL, Esq.

Wilder's Salamander Safes, which have never failed to preserve their contents in case of fire, are to be bad only of SILAS C. HERRING, General Agent, No. 139 Water-st., N. Y., No. 139 Water-st., N. Y.,
And his duly authorized Agents,
M. J. THOMAS & CO., Albany,
E. C. SALISBURY, Troy.
jy7 tf J. W. STANTON & CO., New Orleans.

BEWARE OF IMITATION Salaman-der Safes.—The reputation of Wilders Patent Salasander Safes, for securing books and papers against Fire, aving become almost universal, has induced other manu-icturers of Iron Chests to imitate his (at least in the out-vard appearances) and offer them to the public under the mand appearances) and oner them to the public under the name of "Improved Salamander Safes," but of which Wilders Patent Salamander Safes, mannfactured by himself, stand in no need, having been tested in many instances, and never falling in a single case of accomplishing the purpose for which they were invented and affered to the nutilic.
